LIGHT, HEAT AND POWER.

The City Trustees of Sacramento have granted a franchise to the South Yuba Water Company to supply the city with light, heat and power. The company's power plant is at Newcastle, thirty miles distant from Sacramento, and they claim that they can bring unlimited electric energy that distance, and supply the city not only with light and power, but with heat.

If the waters of the South Yuba, thirty miles from Sacramento, can be used for lighting, heating and furnishing power to run machinery in that city, why should not the waters of the Truckee be utilized for similar purposes in Reno? The Truckee is capable of furnishing unlimited power at a minimum cost. The power can be converted through the medium of electricity into light and heat. The streets and buildings can be lighted by it and it can be utilized for heating and cooking purposes. The water taken from the river to generate electricity can be restored to the river, undiminished in quantity, a few hundred yards from where it is diverted from the stream; so that it will not lessen the quantity for irrigating purposes.

It is true that the Reno Water, Land and Light Company has taken steps to utilize the waters of the Truckee for lighting the town. They have built a dam a short distance above town across the Truckee, but they continue to use steam power to generate electricity, and the town, because of the inability of the company to furnish street lamps at the price offered by the Commissioners, is as dark as Erebus these cloudy nights, when it has facilities right at its doors for furnishing light at the least possible expense.

Money is said to be abundant in the large cities. It is seeking investment in Government bonds at a low rate of interest, and the principal business of the Administration seems to be to accommodate its owners by giving them opportunity to purchase such bonds. If some of this idle capital could be induced to utilize a small percentage of the waters of the Truckee the investment would certainly be profitable, and Reno would be furnished with light, and power to run a sewing machine or a flouring mill, and probably with heat, at as low price as any city on the Coast.

A MODEST DEMAND.

Andrew Carnegie thinks the Government officials who pronounced his armor plates unfit for use exceeded their authority, and he demands that the $10,000 assessed against him for inferior plates be paid him forthwith. He threatens to sue the Government immediately if it does not comply with this modest request. He assumes that Congress and naval officers have no business to interfere with arrangements made by wealthy contractors and Government officials and that it is very impertinent to condemn the plates which his company furnished for battle ships because they were rotten and full of blowholes. If not paid the contract price Mr. Carnegie will probably bring suit against the Government for damages. Rejecting armor plates that would furnish no protection to war vessels has injured the reputation of his works and the Government should pay the company damages, unless it desires to convey the idea that it is not conducted exclusively in the interest of corporations.

TOO MUCH FOR BOSS PLATT.

Dr. Parkhurst, who is leading the crusade against official rascality and corruption in New York City, is pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in that city. Ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt, one of the political bosses of the city, attended Dr. Parkhurst's church. Dr. Parkhurst at his Sunday services referred occasionally to the political bosses, whom he arraigned the bosses of politics. This was more than Boss Platt could bear, so he left the church and now preys at the Collegiate Reformed Church in another part of the city.

Dr. Parkhurst is entitled to more credit than, perhaps, any other man for exposing the rottenness of politics in New York City. He is vehement in his denunciation of bossism, the unrelenting foe of corruption in municipal affairs and a staunch advocate of purity in politics. He insisted on an investigation and finally succeeded in procuring it, and is now showing the world that New York is reeking in political corruption.

Some of the California papers say Governor-elect Budd will be inaugurated Monday, January 7th, the day the Legislature meets. Governor Markham has indicated his readiness to turn the office over to Mr. Budd on that day. The belief is gaining ground that the Legislature will not attempt to keep Mr. Budd out of office; in fact, it is stated that it has no authority to try contests for the Governorship, as that properly belongs to the courts, and the Legislature has no judicial authority except in cases of impeachment.

Five years ago Washington C. De Pauw, the Indiana financier and glass manufacturer, died leaving an estate worth $10,000,000. The big glass companies, iron mills and banks in which the estate was interested failed and the millions melted like snow in sunshine and debts are piled high over the heads of the boys to whom the bulk of the estate was left.

EX-SENATOR FAIR DEAD.

Although in Poor Health He Dies Suddenly at Midnight.

A FRIGHTFUL HOLOCAUST.

Nearly Half the Residents of a Town Burned to Death.

A BOLD ROBBERY.

A County Treasurer Beaten Into Insensibility and Locked in His Vault. SANTA ROSA, December 28.—Santa Rosa had the biggest sensation in its history to-day. The county treasury was robbed of nearly $8,000 and County Treasurer Stofen left insensible in the vault to succumb to the robbers, who locked the door of the vault on him. The robbery occurred about 9 o'clock this morning, but was not discovered until 5 o'clock this afternoon. All this time County Treasurer Stofen lay on the floor of the vault gasping for breath, fearing every moment, during conscious intervals, would be his last on earth. Had it not been for the timely arrival of his wife, the only person in town who knew the combination, he would have been dead.

Mrs. Stofen became alarmed at the non-appearance of her husband and about 3 o'clock went to the court-house to find him. The office door was locked, but with the aid of the janitor she opened the door. On one desk was her husband's hat and coat. On the floor in confusion were money trays on which the Treasurer carries money from the vault, which is in the rear of the office to the desk in the front room. About that time a faint knocking was heard from inside the vault. Mrs. Stofen cried to her husband in the vault that she would save him if she could remember the combination. The first time she tried she failed owing to the great excitement. Next time, realizing that her husband's life depended upon her coolness, she was more successful and the big iron doors of the vault slowly swung open. Treasurer Stofen was found on the floor of the vault unconscious. The safe door was open and the money removed.

Treasurer Stofen, as soon as he revived, said he opened up his office as usual about 9 o'clock. As he was carrying out the trays with money from the vault a tall man in stocking feet stepped into the door of the vault and with uplifted dagger in the right hand told him to drop the trays, which he did, and as he stooped over to lay the trays down the robber struck him a powerful blow on the back of the head which rendered him unconscious, for how long he could not tell. He says the man was tall and wore chin whiskers and must have saved admittance to the office during the night and waited for him to open the safe.

Officers are scouring the country for the robber, but no trace has yet been found. Officers say that there have been a number of hard looking characters in town recently but most of them have been common tramps. It is the belief of many that the job was done by parties living in Santa Rosa who were familiar with the county offices and knew just how to proceed to loot the treasury. Owing to the start the robber had the officers think the chances of finding him rather obscure. Many theories are advanced regarding how the robber got into the office but it is most generally believed that he got into the office Thursday night and hid until the treasurer opened the vault and walked into it.

PEOPLE'S PARTY CONFERENCE.

It Convened With Two Hundred Delegates in Attendance. ST. LOUIS, December 28.—A conference of the National Committee of the People's party began to-day with an attendance of 200.

The meeting was called to order by National Chairman Taubeneck and immediately proceeded to discuss the advisability of holding sessions in secret. The debate developed a tangle, out of which the gathering pulled itself after nearly two hours of discussion by resolving itself into an informal conference, with Mr. Taubeneck in the chair, the Committee proper being declared adjourned until 2 p. m.

The Chairman then stated the purpose of the conference as indicated in the call. Upon motion of General Weaver, the Chair was directed to appoint a committee of five upon credentials and another of ten upon an address, the latter to prepare a summary of advice for the conference.

A recess was then taken until 2 o'clock.

Perished in the Snow.

SUMMIT, Cal., December 28.—The body of John O'Brien, who was working about six miles from the Summit, was discovered buried in the snow. He got lost in the storm and died from exposure. He had lost one of his snow shoes and was only two miles from his cabin. His dog guarded the body until nearly starved and then went to a wood chopper's camp three miles away and induced the men to follow him to where his master lay.

A HOLOCAUST.

Forty-one Persons Burned to Death at a Christmas Eve Festival.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., December 28.—News has just reached here that a most horrible holocaust occurred at Silver Lake, Lake county, Oregon, on Christmas Eve in which forty-one people were burned to death and sixteen badly injured, five of whom will die.

A large crowd had assembled in Christmas Bros. Hall to attend the Christmas tree. While the festivities were at their height some one climbed on a bench from which point he expected to get a better view of what was going on. In doing so his head struck a lamp hanging from the ceiling, overturning it. The oil immediately caught fire, and everything in the room being dry and of an inflammable nature the room was soon a mass of flames. Some one shouted, "shut the door, and keep quiet, it can easily be put out." By this time the confusion was so great that the people began scrambling in a wild endeavor to reach the door. Women and children were trampled under foot, and as there was only one exit to the hall and the fire being between a majority of the crowd and the door, many people rushed headlong into the flames.

The building was a two-story structure and contained Christmas Bros. store on the first floor and on the second was the hall, which was rented for gatherings of all kinds.

Silver Lake is a small village in Lake county of about 100 inhabitants, and is 150 miles from the nearest telegraph office.

DEATH OF EX-SENATOR FAIR.

He Passes Away Unexpectedly a Little After Midnight.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 28.—Ex-Senator James G. Fair died to-night at the Lick House at twenty minutes past twelve o'clock.

Senator Fair has been in poor health for some time suffering from asthma. A few days ago he caught cold while going out in a rain storm to view some of his property improvements at North Beach. The cold did not apparently affect his lungs but settled in his kidneys. This evening he was feeling better than for the past few days and his death was entirely unexpected. Senator Fair was about sixty-four years old. His death was due to complications of kidney and stomach troubles. His only son, Charles G. Fair, whom he disinherited about a year ago, was with his father at the time of his death, a resuscitation having been effected a short time ago. Senator Fair was born in Ireland and was U. S. Senator from Nevada. He made his fortune in the Comstock lode and was a member of the famous Bonanza firm of Flood, Mackey, Fair and O'Brien. He largely increased his wealth by investments in San Francisco and California real estate and his fortune is estimated at $20,000,000.

The Delayed Vessels Arriving. SAN FRANCISCO, December 28.—The coal laden bark Sea King, twenty-four days from Nansaimo, B. C., came into port this evening. On Christmas morning the Sea King was sighted ten miles north of Point Reyes, only a few hours distant from San Francisco, and her owners were again becoming anxious about her.

The schooner John F. Miller, twenty-five days out from Portland, was also towed into port this evening. She was sighted on Monday last just off the Farallone Islands. The schooner was then in a disabled condition, having been stripped of several of her sails and it was feared she had been driven out to sea again.

Nothing has been heard of the coal laden ship J. B. Brown since the twenty-third instant, when she was sighted off Cape Mendocino. She is out twenty-five days from Nansaimo.

The Apaches Acting Ugly Again.

TUCSON, Ariz., December 28.—A Mexican sheepherder was brought into Bisbee to-day suffering from a gunshot wound through the thigh. He says he was attacked by five mounted Indians while alone looking after his sheep and when he took to his heels the redskins opened fire on him, only one of the shots taking effect. He managed to join several herders a half mile from the scene of the shooting who took him to Bisbee.

This bold attempt at murder is considered but a starter for serious Indian troubles. Part of Geronimo's band of Apaches have been returned to the San Carlos reservation, their old stamping grounds, and their actions cause settlers great alarm.

Trying to Find the Lost Boys.

VALLEJO, Cal., December 28.—James Fell of Virginia City is here to try to identify the three young tramps who were killed by the train near Elmira some time ago. He fears his son George Edwin Fell and two playmates named Thomas Gavin and Thomas Whalen, who ran away from home in Virginia City were the boys killed. From the description given of the dead boys Mr. Fell thinks they are the runaways and the bodies will be exhumed for further identification. It is thought the boys were riding on a break-beam and were thrown off under the wheels.

A Meeting of the Central Pacific Directors.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 28.—A special meeting of the Directors of the Central Pacific Railroad Company was held here this afternoon. The principal object of the meeting was to give Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, who is here as a representative of the dissatisfied English shareholders, an opportunity of meeting the Directors as a body. The meeting was very informal, and it is stated that no business of particular importance was transacted.

THE CHILD DIED.

The Superstition Regarding the Number 13.

"No," said the man who was waiting for his turn in the barber shop, "I'm not superstitious, but I have a kind of horror of the number 13, and I think a good many other men have the same kind of sentiment about it. I had only one experience, but that was a peculiar one."

"Did you sleep in No. 13 in a hotel," asked the man to whom he was talking. "No, I went to Ogden to attend the funeral of a friend and was invited with others who were at the services to dine at the house of a relative of the deceased—his niece, in fact. When we sat at the table our hostess, who was assisting in waiting upon us, remarked that there were just 13 at the table. She had a beautiful child two years of age, and to break the spell she brought the little fellow and put him in my arms. He was much admired and was passed from one to another until his mother was ready to sit down, when he was taken away."

"Well, what happened? Did some one die before the year was out?" "That's the strange part of it. It was not one of the 13 guests that died, but the little child who was brought in to break the spell."

His voice faltered and he looked thoughtful as he took the tonsorial chair.

DO YOU WEAR ARTIFICIAL TEETH?

The Old Style Plate Superseded. If your artificial teeth are loose and unsatisfactory, or if the old style of entirely covering the roof of the mouth with rubber causes irritation and discomfort, try a plate made by a new method which leaves the roof of the mouth almost entirely uncovered and you will find the plate to remain firm without causing any inconvenience.

or loss of taste. If you wear artificial teeth try one of my narrow plates and you will find the greatest comfort and satisfaction. All work guaranteed, and prices as low as is consistent with strictly first-class operations.

The Best Present.

The best present you can give your wife for Christmas is a three months treatment of Viavi; it brings health and makes a happy home. I will be glad to explain regarding its merits, and will refer you to those who have been cured by its use. VIACI Co. MAS. B. E. HUNTER, Agent.

A poll of the Senate and Assembly of the California Legislature shows that in the Senate there will be twenty-five Republicans and fifteen Democrats, and in the Assembly fifty-three Republicans, sixteen Democrats and one Populist. For United States Senator it is said that thirty-three Assemblymen favor Perkins, that twenty-four are non-committal and six not heard from. In the Senate twelve are for Perkins, six doubtful, one for Fulton and six not heard from. Perkins, therefore, will have forty-five, a majority of the joint Republican caucus, which makes his election to the United States Senate reasonably certain.

Professor David Starr Jordan, in a lecture at Stockton a few days ago, said that cigarette smoking is the fool-killer of the present generation. The professor no doubt has observed the evil effects of this despicable habit. Boys should be made to realize that the cigarette is their worst enemy, destroying by slow stages their mental and physical power and bringing them to an early grave.

Two Washoe county farmers were discussing the fall in prices of live stock. One said the reason that the prices of live stock had fallen so low was on account of the general use of bicycles, also the trolley and cable lines for street railroads. The other replied that he didn't know anything about bicycles or trolleys, but he believed that the reason horses were so cheap was because there are so many jackasses in Washington.

An exchange says that limburger cheese laid away in cupboards and refrigerators will drive away ants. There is little doubt of it. It will drive a spike into a brick wall, a tramp away from a meal of victuals, a mule through a barbed wire fence, or a band of cattle over a precipice. Yea, verily, 't will stop a clock. Will not some inventive genius discover a method of utilizing this latent power to generate electrical force, drive machinery, trains of cars and in fact a power for the general welfare of man. It might also be used to draw teeth, blisters, inferences and patronage.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Storm, Cold and Warm Waves—January Temperature will be Above the Average Climate.

(Copyrighted 1894, by W. T. Foster.)

Sr JOSEPH, Mo., December 28.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 27th to the 31st and the next will reach the Pacific coast about January 1st, cross the western mountains by the close of the 2d, the Great Central valleys from the 3d to 5th, and the Eastern States about the 7th.

The second storm wave of January will reach the Pacific coast about the 7th, cross the Western mountains by the close of the 8th, the Great Central valleys from the 9th to 11th and the Eastern States about the 12th.

Warm waves will cross the western mountain country about the 1st and 7th, the Great Central about the 3d and 9th and the Eastern States about the 5th and 11th.

Cool waves will cross the western mountain country about the 4th and 10th, the Great Central valleys about the 6th and 12th and Eastern States the 8th and 14th.

January temperature for the whole United States will be above the average and rainfall about an average while some localities will be above and some below the general averages.

For weather purposes Eastern States include the Atlantic coast east of the Alleghenies including Maine and Florida. In that weather division January temperature and rainfall will be above normal in the northern part, average in central and below normal in the southern part.

The Great Central valleys include all the country from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico and between the summits of the Rocky and Alleghany mountains. In that division the temperature and rainfall for January will be about normal, rainfall increasing to above normal toward the south-east and to below normal toward the north-west. Temperature will increase to above toward the north-west and below toward the south-west.

On the Pacific slope the temperature and rainfall for January will be above on the north and gradually decreasing to below normal in the southern part.

The Ohio valley and Tennessee and the lower lakes will have average temperature and rainfall in January, the upper lakes inclined toward warm and dry, east gulf cold and wet, west gulf average temperature and rain.

CLIMATE.

The time is probably not far away when we will be able to approximate the production of the world's crops years in advance and looking forward to such grand results the two million readers of these bulletins who have been studying weather changes and their causes are ready to embark in a study of climates preparatory to a study of plant life.

Our scientists use the word flora when speaking of the vegetable world and fauna when referring to the world of animal life. It is found that the flora and fauna are closely connected in their distribution throughout the world and each are closely allied to climate.

In remote past ages great convulsions repeatedly and suddenly changed the climates of various portions of the earth and these climatic changes revolutionized the flora and fauna of vast portions of the earth as is well attested by fossil remains.

The fauna and flora of the West Indies are the same as those on the North American continent and therefore must have had the same origin and those islands must have been separated from the main land in comparatively recent geologic times. The climate of the West Indies is the same as on the mainland with only the gradual change due to latitude.

The vegetable and animal products of the West Indies and the North American continent adjacent are the same because the climate of the two countries are very similar and this similarity is caused by the flow of the Atlantic ocean waters which, coming from the tropical east along the equator, turn in near the Gulf of Mexico, flowing through the West Indies and then north-east ward along the coasts of our Eastern States.

A similar gulf stream with its tepid waters from the tropics flows north-eastward along the eastern coast of Asia and onward to our north-western Pacific coasts. Therefore Japan and eastern Asia have climates, fauna and flora much like those of eastern North America.

The waters about the West Indies are rising because the equator of the earth on the American side is slowly moving northward and in recent geologic times the West India Islands were connected with the mainland of the North American continent.

In South America, however, there are many animals, birds and quadrupeds entirely differing from anything found in North America and therefore the two continents must have remained entirely separated, from, and its climate continued very unlike the climate of North America during a long geologic period.

Evidently the isthmus comprising Central America, especially the southern part of it, is of recent volcanic origin, and formerly North and South America were separated by a wide arm of the ocean or channel similar to the Straits of Gibraltar.

That channel prevented migrations of animals from one of the Americas to the other and the vast difference in the climates of these countries has, in the long ages, produced widely differing species of the animal kingdom.

differences between these climates.

South America, compared with her northern neighbor, is a small tract of land almost entirely surrounded by vast bodies of water and its electric currents move in spirals opposite the current movements in North America. A more striking difference is found in the climates and their effects when we compare Asia and Australia. The floral and animal kingdoms of these two countries are unlike in almost every particular, and a strange fact is that those of Australia, south Africa and South America have no resemblance to each other although these countries are similarly circumscribed as to temperature, the earth's equator, ocean currents, surrounding oceans and extent of land surface.

Biologists claim that fauna similar to that found in Australia was prevalent throughout the land surface of the world in remote ages and that some great change separated Australia from Asia, after which the present animal occupants of Asia supplanted the marsupials while in Australia the latter were protected from the northern animals by the deep, wide channels of water now found separating the two continents.

In support of this idea it is stated that a very deep channel runs about midway of the East Indies and that on all the islands near by and south of that channel the Australian forms prevail, while immediately north of it the northern and none of the southern animals are found.

THE KEELY POST.

A Brief Temperance Lecture in Rhyme.

The following ebullition of one of the Carson Keely graduates is a good temperance lecture, and is not long enough to become tiresome:

Christmas day has gone by,
The first in many a year,
That did not bring us muddled brains
From eggnog, booze and beer.
Our heads are not now swelled, boys
Our eyes they show no blur,
Our stomachs are not inside out,
Although we've had good cheer.
Then here's a toast to drink, boys,
In water clear and cold,
To "The cure of Doctor Keely,"
That has changed our ways of old.

—THE KEELY POST.

Prospects Up North.

Sierra, Plumas, Lassen, Modoc and Butte counties have cheering prospects. The extension of the N.-O.-Q. R. R. north from Amadee into Modoc county, and the building of the Mohawk and Sierra Valley Railroad through Northern Sierra county will develop a rich dairying, grain and pasture region, and it is almost certain that this extension will be made. These roads will encourage all residents of the counties named and will give them communication by rail with all markets, rapid travel and bring in new capital, increase the value of land and awaken the people of that section to take advantage of the opportunities offered.

Failed to Comply With the Law.

All of the Justices of the Peace and Constables elected at the late election in Sacramento county, outside of the city of Sacramento, have lost the right to take their respective offices on the first of the year by not complying with the law in regard to filing an affidavit of their election expenses. In accordance with the law they cannot be appointed, so the present officers will hold over until their successors are qualified. A number of township officers up north are in the same predicament. Many no doubt thought the law did not amount to anything, but are now astonished to find themselves ineligible to the office after having been elected to it.

A Leader.

Since its introduction, Electro Bitters has gained rapidly in popular favor, until now it is clearly in the lead among pure medicinal tonics and alternatives—containing nothing which permits its use as a beverage or intoxicant, it is recognized as the best and purest medicine for all ailments of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys. It will cure Sick Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, and drive Malaria from the system. Satisfaction guaranteed with each bottle or the money will be refunded. Price only 50c per bottle. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

Now is the Time.

S. Emrich is selling his capes, jackets and children's cloaks at prices regardless of cost in order to clear his stock. He is also selling blankets, dress goods and other dry and fancy goods at proportionately low figures. Now is the time to get bargains.

District Court.

The District Court was occupied yesterday in hearing the case of Clarke & Jones vs. Margaret McCarran. Benj. Outler appeared for the plaintiff and Wm. Webster for defendant. The court ordered judgment for the defendant.

JUDGE TRUMBULL'S IDEA.

He Drafts a Declaration of Principles for the St. Louis Conference.

Judge Lyman Trumbull of Illinois, who framed the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, has written the following declaration of principles for the guidance of the People's party Conference at St. Louis:

Resolved, That human brotherhood and equality of rights are the cardinal principles of true Democracy.

Resolved, That forgetting all past political differences, we unite in the common purpose to rescue the central Government from the control of monopolists and concentrated wealth, to limit their power of perpetration by curtailing their privileges, and to secure the rights of free speech, a free press, free labor and trial by jury.

We endorse the resolution adopted by the National Republican Convention of 1860, which was incorporated by President Lincoln in his inaugural address as follows: "That the maintenance inviolate of the rights of the States, and especially of the rights of each State, to order and control its own domestic institutions according to its own judgment exclusively is essential to that balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depends, and we denounce the lawless invasion by armed force on the soil of any State or Territory, no matter under what pretext, as among the gravest of crimes."

Resolved, That the power given Congress by the Constitution to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, to suppress insurrections, to impel invasions, does not warrant the Government in making use of a standing army in aiding monopolies, the oppression of their employees. When free men unshielded the sword it should be to strike for liberty, not for despotism or to uphold privileged monopolies in the oppression of the poor.

Resolved, That to check the rapid absorption of the wealth of the country and its perpetuation in a few hands we demand the enactment of laws limiting the amount of property to be acquired by device or inheritance.

Resolved, That we denounce the issuance of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace, to be paid for in part, at least, by gold drawn from the Treasury, which results in the Government's paying interest on its own money.

Resolved, That we demand that Congress perform its constitutional duty to coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin by the enactment of laws for the free coinage of silver with gold at the ratio of 16 to 1.

Resolved, That monopolies affecting the public interests should be owned and operated by the Government, in the interest of the people; all the employees of the same to be governed by the civil service rules and no one to be employed or displaced on account of politics.

Resolved, We inscribe in our banners "Down With Monopolies and Millionaire Control, Up With the Rights of Man and the Masses," and under this banner we march to the polls and to victory.

A Solid Institution.

The First National Bank publishes its quarterly report in another column of the JOURNAL to-day. A glance at the figures will convince any one of the solidity of this home institution. It is managed on strictly business principles and has been of great assistance to the people of Reno and vicinity in furthering any enterprise for the benefit of the community, and in aiding the merchant, mechanic and farmer. It is worth ones while to peruse its quarterly statement.

IN COLD WEATHER.

The most effective method of preventing roughness, chapping, and breaking of the skin is to use Copson's Balm. A few applications will render the skin soft and smooth, and it costs only 25 cents per bottle. It gives satisfaction to all who use it. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned respectfully tender their heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends who afforded them assistance and condolence in their late bereavement.
